On February 7, the Persian electro-acoustic sensation Niyaz does a hometown record release party in Los Angeles at the El Rey Theatre in support of their critically acclaimed sophomore album, Nine Heavens. The album has been resonating across a wide spectrum of fans worldwide from the younger Persian generation to their parents, to Western ears and more. No wonder why the album continues to receive press accolades with a recent feature on NPR's Weekend Edition. The album has also hit impressive chart numbers including #1 on iTunes "world chart," #1 on the "world music radio charts" in Europe, and #4 on Billboard's "world music chart."

Niyaz's 2005 debut album featured a convincing blend of Sufi poetry and trance electronica, and quickly established them as a standout ensemble in a very crowded world music field. Since then Niyaz have become international touring artists performing all over the world from Canada, the United States, Europe to the Middle East. Known for their highly dynamic live performances, which features additional musicians from various backgrounds, Niyaz presents audiences with a sophisticated blend of superb musicianship and subtle electronica.

Now, Niyaz returns with Nine Heavens, which doesn't just cross cultural and stylistic boundaries, but the centuries as well. Drawing on medieval Persian poetry and 300-year old Persian folk songs, Niyaz has created a 21st century global trance tradition. This may seem like a tall order for a band that's barely three years old – until you realize who these musicians are. Vocalist Azam Ali co-founded the best-selling world music duo Vas in 1996; her unmistakable voice has graced numerous recordings and major film scores. Loga Ramin Torkian is a multi-instrumentalist whose group Axiom of Choice brought the ancient sounds of Persian classical music to Western listeners in the 1990s. And Carmen Rizzo, a multiple Grammy nominee, who is co-producer in Niyaz along with Azam and Loga, and has worked with Coldplay, Seal, Ryuichi Sakamoto, and many others. Small wonder then that the trio hit the ground running with its self-titled debut. Now, with Nine Heavens, Niyaz breaks new ground in a two-disc format: the first is an adventurous, spiritual exploration of the ties that bind Persian, Indian, Turkish, and Western dance music. The second disc showcases 8 out of the 9 songs in a purely acoustic setting.

On tour Niyaz consists of vocalist Azam Ali, multi-instrumentalist Loga Ramin Torkian, oud virtuoso Naser Musa, tabla player Salar Nader, double bassist Miles Jay, and Ray Lee on keyboards and programming. Niyaz's live show is a celebration of cultural and spiritual differences, which has not only united these talented musicians, but also their audiences worldwide. Don't miss this opportunity to see a group forging a new musical path when Niyaz comes to perform at the El Rey Theatre in Los Angeles on February 7th.

Currently based in America Loga is now recognized worldwide for his work with Niyaz, the ground breaking World Music ensemble he co-founded in 2005. Although Torkian is a highly accomplished on many instruments such as the Guitar, Lafta, Djura etc., his main instruments are the Turkish Saz which is from the family of lutes, the Kamman, a bowed instrument specifically designed for Loga, and the electric Guitar Viol, a bowed guitar inspired by a 14th century instrument. With its haunting sound that mesmerizes audiences, what makes Loga's style so singular is the fact that he applies Persian traditional bowing techniques and melodies to his playing. A highly gifted and talented composer, Loga is greatly respected for his ability to adapt the Persian classical repertoire, known as Radif, into his own unique and modern compositions. His profound artistry has been featured in several major motion picture soundtracks, which include "Iron Man" and "Body of Lies".

Salar Nader

Salar Nader is one of the youngest and most talked about Tabla players in recent times. A student of world-renowned Tabla maestro Ustad Zakir Hussain, Salar's natural magnetism and innovative approach to this traditional instrument have made him one of Hussain's most promising protégés. Of Afghan descent, Salar was born in Hamburg, Germany in 1981 and migrated to America at the age of three where he began his studies with Ustad Zakir Hussain. Today, Salar is the preferred accompanist for many of India's, Afghanistan's, and Pakistan's most renowned classical musicians and dancers. He has also performed with ensembles such as the Rumi Ensemble (Shahram Nazeri and Hafez Nazeri), Ruminations (Farzin Farhadi, Cheb I Sabbah). Not yet 30 years of age, Salar Nader is already an exceptional musician, composer, teacher, and performer. It is safe to say that he is destined to be one of the top artists of his time.

Miles Jay

At 27 years of age, Miles Jay is the most sought after double bassist in the World Music scene today. A graduate of the University of California, Santa Barbara with a BA in Ethnomusicology combined with a strong foundation in Jazz and Classical music, Miles has soon built an impressive resume for himself touring all over the world from Cairo to Oslo, Dubai to Dakar, Carnegie Hall, the United Nations, Beirut and Damascus. Miles' talent and innate approach to World Music has added a wonderful new dimension to Niyaz' music, making him a great new addition to this unique ensemble.
